

The Victoria & Stuart Project

Part 3

Deciding together about how to help people plan

We will get a team together to look at what we have found out so far.

This team will decide:

The best ways to help people with learning disabilities plan for when they are going to die.

The best resources that can help (for example pictures, documents or videos).

This team will include:

- People with learning disabilities

- Families of people with learning disabilities

- Support workers

- Researchers

- A learning disability nurse

- Other people who know about planning for the end of life.

There is more information about the rest of the study here. To do when domain is decided
